Lift Up Your Eyes...

● Depressed? The ancients had a remedy which gave them a new vision . . . a truer perspective. They "lifted up their eyes to the mountains". People from all parts of the world have been visiting and coming back to the Canadian Rockies for years and proving the wisdom of the ancients. Who could not be impressed by the majesty of these sky-piercing, snow-peaked mountains, and invigorated by the exhilarating air?

Banff Springs Hotel

A modern, fireproof hostelry. Its massive exterior walls, 14 storeys in height, are of native rock trimmed with Tyn-dall stone, and their soft color effects lend striking beauty to the imposing structure. 600 commodious guest rooms all with bath; luxurious suites; spacious public rooms; marvellous cuisine; regal setting; all combine to make Banff Springs Hotel the ultimate in comfort and refinement.

Society's Summer Home

● The Canadian Rockies are too well known to call for detailed description—even if that were possible. Suffice it to say that they form one of the most remarkable mountain regions of the world. Composed of some five ranges, they offer nearly 650 miles of magnificent scenery—snowy peaks, glaciers, rugged precipices, waterfalls, foaming torrents, canyons and lakes like vast sapphires and amethysts set in the spruce-clad mountains. In the heart of this vast mountain empire, in one of the world's most impressive settings, stands Banff Springs Hotel, known today as the summer home of North American Society. From Scotland's baronial castles this vast structure drew its inspiration, and regally adorns its setting. Warm sulphur and clear crystal swimming pools adjoin it. An 18-hole, marvellously achieved, golf course stretches away from its doors. Fast tennis courts flank it and in the rear are stables for gaited horses and corrals for mountain ponies—for riding is one of the major events at Banff. There is every sports device to suit the tastes of the 20th century.

Valley of the Gods

● What a thrill as your car swings up the mountain road and sweeps into the great stone courtyard of Banff Springs Hotel. Here, less than a generation ago, the red men danced around tribal camp fires. Today the pale face comes in thousands to a great modern hostelry. The hotel stands at the confluence of the Bow and Spray rivers amid a circle of pearly grey peaks—in a veritable "Valley of the Gods". Mention has been made of the sports facilities. To these should be added the joys of riding and hiking along fir-scented trails in the cool sweet mountain air, meeting colorful characters, scarlet-coated "mounties" and rolling-gaited cowboys . . . fishing for cut-throat trout, or canoeing along shady streams. Nature has been very prodigal in her gifts and man has opened up roads for their better enjoyment. As a consequence motoring is a favorite diversion in the Rockies and nowhere else do even the shortest trips pay such handsome returns as in this Valley of the Gods.

Fun

Height

● At the hotel there is entertainment all the time. One could be perfectly happy just looking out towards the enclosing mountains, watching the swimmers, swimming oneself, playing tennis, or studying the cosmopolitan types which one meets at this great caravansary. There is an excellent Turkish bath at the hotel, popular with those who come in after a game of golf or an hour in the saddle. The spacious, luxurious lounges invite one to a contented laziness. There may be an orchestra playing somewhere, and, in the evening when Banff, the mountains and the winding Bow are bathed in moonlight, the strains of dance music float out from the ballroom. Should you care, however, to learn something of the formation of the mountains or the wild life in which they abound, or of the flowers which grow in such profusion, there are lecturers who give informal talks once or twice a week. There is always something new—something different to do . . . with never a dull moment.

● Banff Springs Hotel has two swimming pools—a beautiful outdoor pool filled with health-giving, warm sulphur water, and a cool, indoor fresh-water pool—ideal for an invigorating plunge. Both pools are well suited to the beginner as well as to the more proficient, and expert instructors are in attendance.

● Adjoining the pools is a spacious lawn overlooking the Valley of the Bow. Here the swimmers relax in the crystalline Alpine air, tanning themselves or chatting with golfers, riders or tennis players back from their pursuits. Afternoon tea and other light refreshments are served under spreading sunshades.

Indian Days ... Every Year at Banff

Indian Days at Banff is one of the most colorful spectacles on the North American continent. Between three and four hundred Stoney Indians come from the Morley reserve, 40 miles east of Banff, for their tribal sports. Each morning there is a parade in which the majority of the Indians take part. The tribe is all mounted, many splendid horses being used, the chiefs resplendent in gorgeous trappings and head-pieces. Braves and squaws wear creations of white buckskin, beadwork and ermine, and they ride with dignity and poise.

CALGARY STAMPEDE—Another frontier-day celebration is the annual Stampede held each year at Calgary, the gateway to the Rockies. This is the largest rodeo of its kind in the world. For a week the glories of the Old West are revived in a carnival of frontier sports and contests. Cowboys, Indians, "mounties" and old-timers are all to be seen at this western epic—an event which no one should miss. Full particulars as to the dates of these celebrations may be secured from any Canadian Pacific agent.

Why I've Played Banff

(IS A GOLFER'S PROUDEST BOAST... AND HAPPIEST MEMORY)

You may have heard this remark in your club . . . or from some European visitor homeward-bound on the Empress of Britain: "I've played Banff". For the course is one of the most perfectly balanced, most scenically beautiful in the world—the answer to a golfer's prayer! It is 6,640 yards long and has a par of 71. It was designed by Stanley Thompson who sympathized with the frailties of the "average" golfer and provided three sets of tees for each hole, thus furnishing in reality three courses—long, medium and short. The "nineteenth hole" is a superb new club house admirably situated on the banks of the river. Competitions are held each year for the Prince of Wales Cup—an open event—and the Willingdon Trophy—for which participants play under club handicaps. These two events are combined in a "Golf Week" which every golfer should note in his diary. Full information regarding conditions of entry, dates, etc., may be obtained from any Canadian Pacific agent.

The Chateau at Lake Louise—Pearl of the Rockies

On the road to Victoria Glacier

Riding is popular at Lake Louise

Hikers off for adventure on the high peaks

Lovely Lake Louise Most Beloved of all Unrivalled Charm...

● From Banff to Lake Louise is a fine 42-mile motor trip or one may go by rail. The route is along the Bow River, crossing a spot that is the favorite haunt of a large herd of mountain sheep, which in this national park have sanctuary. About 16 miles from Banff a stop is made at Johnston Canyon—16 miles of inspiring mountain scenery, with the gaunt grey turrets of Castle Mountain towering ahead. One can leave the car here and walk up the Canyon—a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. Johnston Creek dashes between high rock walls and falls in a series of miniature cascades which are spanned by tiny rustic bridges. From Johnston Canyon the road continues to Lake Louise, passing within view of the Ten Peaks and Mount Temple.

Lake Louise—probably the most perfect gem of scenery in the known world—bears the liquid music, the soft color notes of its name, almost into the realm of the visible. Geographically a "cirque Lake"—a deep, steeped walled recess caused by glacial erosion, nestling 600 feet above the railway on the far side of a mountain palisade, amidst an amphitheatre of peaks—it is a dramatic palette upon which the Great Artist has splashed His most gorgeous hues, a wonderful spectrum of color. Deepest and most exquisitely colored is the lake itself, sweeping from rosy dawn to sunset through green, blue, amethyst and violet, undershot by gold; dazzling white is the sun-glorified Victoria Glacier, at the farther end; sombre are the enclosing spruce-clad peaks with cliffs that drop perpendicularly into the lake; and magnificent are the stark immensities of the snow-covered peaks that enclose the picture except for the fleecy blue sky overhead. On the margin of this perfect lake, in a wonderful Alpine flower garden, where poppies, violets, columbines, anemones and sheep laurel slope through terraced lawns to the water's edge—the Canadian Pacific has placed its great Chateau Lake Louise, a fireproof, modern and luxurious hotel with accommodation for seven hundred guests.

Across the front of the hotel extends a vast lounge that commands an uninterrupted view of the Lake through beautiful single pane windows of enormous size. The dining-room, in the right wing, has the same wonderful windows and view. From the ballroom in the left wing the Lake may be seen through the arches of the cloistered terrace. Thus the visitor may rest, dine and dance without losing sight of the beauty that attracted him hither.

The Chateau has many attractions. Two fine hard tennis courts are attached to the hotel, and a boat-house supplies secure rowing boats and canoes to the many who cannot resist the magnetism of the clear, blue water. Below the dining-room and overlooking the lake is an attractively terraced concrete swimming pool filled with heated glacial water, and with an instructor in attendance. There are also putting greens and clock golf.

Consolation Lake

● Another pearl of the Rockies is Moraine Lake, 9 miles from Lake Louise at the end of one of the finest short motor rides in the mountains. This lovely mountain lake, exquisitely blue-green in color, lies in the Valley of the Ten Peaks—a tremendous and majestic semi-circle that with jagged profile encircles the eastern and southern end of the lake. Not one of these peaks is less than 10,000 feet in height—the highest, Mount Deltaform, is 11,225 feet. Standing off a little, as a sort of outpost, is the Tower of Babel, an interesting rock formation of unusual shape. An extension trip should be made to Consolation Lake, the waters of which contain a plentiful supply of rainbow, Dolly Varden and cut-throat trout. At the foot of the lake, where the creek flows out into the valley, is Moraine Lake Chalet-Bungalow Camp. The main building, in its attractive forest setting, contains a bright living and dining-room. The small, separate log cabins are near at hand providing sleeping accommodation. The camp is an admirable centre for trail-riders and walkers who wish to explore the valley's surroundings and for mountaineers who aspire to the peaks.

Mountain Climbing

*in "Fifty Switzerland in one"
with competent Swiss Guides*

● The Canadian Rockies present to the mountain climber one of the most extensive and interesting of the easily accessible ranges of the world. Not without good cause has the region been called "Fifty Switzerland in One" and not without good reason do noted climbers—and aspirants to the title—make their way thither from all parts of the world. It has a splendid variety of climbs suited equally to the seasoned mountaineer and the beginner. Competent Swiss Guides are available at the Hotels whose services should be arranged for as far in advance as possible. It goes without saying that no climbing should be undertaken without suitable clothing and equipment. The Alpine Club of Canada, which numbers over 600 members, has its headquarters at Banff. Each year it holds a Camp in the Canadian Rockies and welcomes all who have the ambition to climb or are in any way interested in the Mountains.

Emerald Lake

The name of another Lake was changed so that this might be called Emerald

A corner chat at Emerald Lake

Emerald Lake Chalet-Bungalow Camp is like a Swiss settlement in the Rockies, nestling on the edge of a green jewel-lake!

● Emerald Lake is not only of itself one of the most popular centres in Yoho National Park—one of the six magnificent national parks served by the Canadian Pacific—but also the axis for excursions to other places. From Field on the Canadian Pacific main line it is seven miles out by motor to Emerald Lake, by a fine road through the hush of a scented spruce-forest. Soon you reach Natural Bridge—an ineffectual effort on the part of nature to curb the foaming passage of the Kicking Horse by checking the river bed with boulders. The road becomes Snow-peak Avenue—because at the end of its straight cathedral-like avenue can be seen a towering snow-capped mountain.

The superb green of Emerald Lake is almost beyond Nature's achievement in any other lake in the Rockies. Tall trees crowd to the water's edge to see their perfect reflection, and to see inverted in the emerald mirror the snowy white giants that surround it. Burgess looms at one end of the Lake . . . while more distant are Wapta, Michael, President, Carnarvon and Emerald.

Emerald Lake Chalet is built of great squared timbers fortresslike in their solidity, surrounded by rustic-design chalets. The settlement now consists of three units—the original Chalet, the Club House and the bungalows. The Chalet, recently enlarged, is along Swiss Chalet lines, with deep overhanging balconies. The Club House is what its name implies; it is an especial favorite at nights: either the verandah, with its magnificent sunset and moonlight views, or indoors, where a good floor for dancing, comfortable chairs for lounging, card-tables, a library and a great log fire provide entertainment for all.

Chalet...

...is built on Swiss lines and is flanked by cosy log Cabins

● The bungalows are of various sizes, daintily and comfortably furnished, with hot and cold running water, bathrooms, stoves and good sized cupboards. All of them have their individual verandahs, and the larger ones are "en suite" with connecting doors.

Emerald Lake has a fair supply of trout, and its vicinity affords many charming excursions on foot or trail. There is a good trail all around the Lake, which is the shortest four and a half miles you've ever walked, and perhaps the loveliest; and another to Hamilton Falls. A boat-house provides skiffs for water excursions.

One of the finest trips from Emerald Lake, on the back of a sturdy, sure-footed mountain pony, is to the Summit—the pass leading into the Yoho Valley. The return journey can be made in four hours afoot or by pony, but many people prefer to make it an all-day affair. Following the road to the end of the Lake, you begin to climb up an eighteen-hundred-foot treeless cliff, while more and more of the world spreads out beneath you, and Emerald Lake far below grows smaller and greener.

A last stiff pull and you are over the top, cantering gaily through a cool moist forest and then Summit Lake or Yoho Lake, green like Emerald but not so large, flashes into the clearing. Other attractive trips will be gladly planned by the hostess at the Chalet.

Chalet-Bungalow Camps in the Canadian Rockies

● A Chalet-Bungalow Camp consists of a central chalet, with dining-room and lounge, surrounded by comfortable sleeping cabins. While such camps are less formal than the hotels, they have modern conveniences such as electric light and running water.

Wapta Camp (station—Hector, B.C.) near the Great Divide stands on the edge of Lake Wapta, the principal source of the Kicking Horse River. From Wapta Lake O'Hara Camp is conveniently reached by trail, (8 miles). There is also another new trail (12 miles) from Lake Louise. O'Hara is considered by some the fairest jewel in the Rockies' crown and won the undying affection of John Singer Sargent. Yoho Valley Camp, situated within sight of Takakkaw Falls, well merits its name—for Yoho was the Cree exclamation of wonder. Radium Hot Springs Camp on the Banff-Windermere Highway is known for the curative properties of its waters. Of Moraine Lake, near Lake Louise, mention has already been made.

Trail Riders & Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies

● For those who wish to get off the beaten path and explore the innermost secrets of the mountains, there are two attractive organizations which extend a hearty welcome to newcomers. One is the "Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies," the other "The Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies." The names of the orders describe their purpose. The former has been in existence for nine years and numbers some 1,500 members drawn from every Province of the Dominion and every State of the Union in addition to many visitors from overseas. The latter is of more recent but no less vigorous growth. Both are international in scope, knowing neither "creed, color nor profession." In the ranks of both are men and women, young and old, who have a true appreciation of the beauty of the mountains and the wild life and flowers which abound there. They are graded hierarchies, these orders—distinctive buttons showing the mileage ridden being awarded in the case of the Trail Riders, while silver bands on the hiker's alpenstock denote his rating. Annual trail rides and trail hikes are held and glorious gatherings they are . . . with carefully planned itineraries and much informal fun. Information may be obtained from any Canadian Pacific agent or at the hotels and chalet-bungalow camps.

On to Alaska

With the World's Greatest Travel System

● It is a fitting climax to your journey through the Canadian Rockies—this 2,000-mile, 9-day cruise to Alaska and back. While the Trail of '98 was a glorious saga for Service and Jack London, there is more to this vast wonderland than the memory of the greatest stampede for gold in history. Its scenery is unique on this continent. It is a land of flowers, of glaciers, of fox farms, salmon, Indians and totem poles. It is the "land of the unsetting sun."

For four days the "Princess" liners of the Canadian Pacific thread the long, almost land-locked "Inside Passage", winding through mountain-hemmed, fjord-like waterways with fascinating Alaskan towns and queer old settlements as continuous episodes.

Regular sailings are operated from Vancouver (also Victoria and Seattle) and six ports are visited en route. Why not complete your journey through the Rockies with this cruise? A companion booklet, describing the cruise to Alaska more fully, may be secured from your own travel agent or any Canadian Pacific agent listed opposite.

WORLD'S GREATEST TRAVEL SYSTEM

FEATURE EVENTS! 1934

Calgary Stampede - July 9-14

Calgary Stampede is the greatest event of its kind in the world, contestants coming from all parts of the continent to compete. All the typically "rodeo" events are featured—roping, broncho busting, covered wagon racing, Indian races, etc. Each year, too, there is the Stampede Ball when all Calgary goes carnival. No visitor to the West should miss this spectacle.

The "Hotel Palliser," owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific, is the ideal headquarters. Rates range from $2.50 per day, European Plan.

Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies - July 27-30

An order called the "Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies" holds an official riding and camping trip each summer starting from a convenient centre. The dates of this year's ride are July 27-30, and the rate is $40, which includes horse, food, service of guides, and share of tent.

The trip this year will start from near Leancoil (reached by special buses from Emerald Lake and Field), and will spend two days in the spectacular Ice River Valley, continuing over the Wolverine Pass to Marble Canyon, where busses will carry the riders to Banff or Lake Louise.

Further particulars from the Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Room 318, Windsor Station, Montreal; or from L. S. Crosby, Western Secretary, Banff, Alta.

Sky Line Trail Hike - Aug. 3-6

With the object of encouraging more extensive use of the trails in the Canadian Rockies, this organization was started last summer after a four-day hike from Lake Louise over two high passes to Lake Wapta. It has planned a camping trip in the Yoho Valley from August 3 to 6 this summer, supplementing with tepees existing accommodation at the Yoho Valley Chalet-Bungalow Camp and Twin Falls Cabin. Rate for the four days is $25. Membership in the organization costs $1.00 a year and a record of twenty-five miles of hiking qualifies for the silver insignia of the Sky Line Trail Hikers.

Further particulars from the Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Room 318, Windsor Station, Montreal; or during July and August from Dan McCowan, Banff.

Indian Days - Aug. 17-19

Indian Days at Banff is one of the most colorful spectacles on the North American continent. Between three and four hundred Stoney Indians come from the Morley reserve, 40 miles east of Banff, for their tribal sports. The tribe is all mounted and their color schemes are fascinating.

The Swiss village, "Edelweiss," has been established one mile west of Golden, as their permanent residence.

During the season the Guides' headquarters are at Chateau Lake Louise, but, if required, they will arrange to accompany parties for climbing trips from our other resorts.
